I needed to write this book in an effort to shed the real light on the crack addiction in our society today. I have been aware of this problem and seen it destroy so many lives in almost every generation. It's a shame that at the onset of this problem with crack it was an urban black thing. The people mostly affected in the beginning of this epidemic were the poor black. But as we have lived to see, the addiction of crack has hit the lives of the poor, the rich and famous and then the ordinary people of the world. It's not just Blacks that are addicted to crack; there are Whites, Asians, and Chinese as well. How could one drug take out so many people on so many different levels is in itself a terrible thing. We look at the drug addicted crack addicts that we see on the streets, hustling, begging and stealing and we look at them and say there's another crack head and we walk past them without a thought of whom they are and where they came from. Who was this young man or young woman before crack, why is this grandmother of five out here on the streets with a crack pipe in her pocket. How did that family lose everything they had and end up homeless? These are the questions that we must ask. But more than anything what are we going to do to rid the world of this problem that not only affects the users but each of us. At some point in all of our lives we have been or will be affected by crack in some form or another. Show some love to the next crack addict that you see and pray for their recovery.
