To Err is Human... Kevin Krogh

Nate Lewis is eleven years old when in 1962 his father buys him a shoeshine kit and sends him out into the neighborhood to peddle his services. After failing to convince several of his peers' fathers that they should pay him ten cents to do what their sons already do for free, he ventures up the gravel driveway belonging to Mr. Howard, a reclusive but wealthy man whom Nate and his family and friends have never met. It is shortly after shinning Mr. Howard's shoes that Nate begins his enduring association with his new friend and mentor. This new relationship between a grandfather-aged man who has no grandchildren and three motherless children (Nate and his two younger sisters) who have no grandfather brings two worlds and two pasts together that have far more in common than either could have ever imagined and provides both with a series of unforeseen opportunities to give and receive the most wondrous gifts that life has to offer.
