Kathleen Kalaf, the author, survived from a very serious health condition as a result of being over prescribed antibiotics, and she nearly lost her life. She became involved in natural health and healing and she learned to heal herself. Now a serious health nut, she embraces natural healing whenever possible. She is a graduate of the Institute for Integrative Nutrition in New York City and a trained holistic health practitioner, and lives in Southern California.

She has two dogs, Dakota and Madonna, and they are the love of her life. Kathleen began using essential oils on her pets, after she had considerable success using them safely on herself. After healing some infections on her own body with essential oils, she was convinced of their safety and effectiveness. One evening, she noticed that Dakota had developed a serious eye infection and it was simply too late to get into see their veterinarian. His eye was nearly swelled shut. She carefully researched what to do for her dog and safely applied essential oils to the appropriate spots on his little body, and the infection nearly healed overnight! The next day, her vet wanted to know which eye had the infection. She realized the benefits and began using essential oils regularly for her pets. She also gained a sense of confidence that she could truly help her pets in the absence of an available professional. And you can too!

She also uses essential oils to ward off fleas and ticks. Dakota is sensitive to chemicals, has allergies, and cannot tolerate pharmaceutical drugs, and now she uses essential oils for flea and tick prevention.
