Arranged chronologically this book acquaints students, grades 3rd – 8th with Early American art from the revolutionary war to the 1820s.

American Art: Volume II acquaints students with Early American art by exploring:

- Spanish Missions
- John Singleton Copley
- Paul Revere
- Benjamin West
- Charles Wilson Peale
- Raphael Peale
- Gilbert Stuart
- Joshua Johnson
- architecture of the White House and the Capitol Building.

The book, American Art: Volume II is arranged chronologically and divided into eight chapters, each chapter introducing two pieces of art. One chapter should be read each week. Chapters can be read individually or aloud. Students often enjoy taking turns reading the articles aloud as a group. Teachers or parents can instigate discussions by helping to define difficult vocabulary or by asking students what is real in the article and what is added for comic effect.

The Forgery Game

Each chapter includes two Forgery games at the end. The games are simple: compare the real work of art to the “forgery” on the facing page and try to find ten differences. This game can be played by students individually or as a group in a classroom setting. In a group students often enjoy competing against each other to see who can find all ten differences first. The game allows children to enjoy studying art, and entices them to thoroughly examine each work of art. By spending time comparing two images, students spend time studying the art in close detail.
