Walk Out Of Financial Darkness Vanessa Derrico

Walk Out Of Financial Darkness is a fun and entertaining story that allows you to take a journey with Annie, a young woman not unlike many Americans today. She has maxed-out credit cards, pays bills late because she refuses to open her mail, and feels as if she is drowning where money is concerned. When Annie feels there is no hope left, an unexpected helper named Simon arrives, to teach her ten lessons on basic money management. Instead of lecturing, he creates situations that she must experience. This method will allow Annie, and you, to easily understand how the financial concept works and how it could be applied to your situation. Vanessa Derrico won multiple awards, including First Year Top Achiever, while working as a financial advisor. During that experience, she found her true passion was financial education, not getting a set number of clients or a specific amount of funds to manage. She discovered there were many people who needed help with financial basics. Helping people learn those basic concepts, however, was not the focus of her financial training. Vanessa has met with thousands of individuals since 2005, while facilitating seminars, classes, and one-on-one coaching. She has tested how basic financial concepts work, how to explain them to others and what pitfalls to avoid. All of her experience gained in executing these concepts in her own household and with the people she has helped has gone into creating Walk Out Of Financial Darkness as an easy to read, fun financial book. Paperback $14.99 Hardcover $22.99
